Mission

The School of Fine Arts—composed of the departments of art and design, music, and theatre; the Fine Arts Academy, Tweed Museum of Art; Glensheen; the Marshall Performing Arts Center; and Weber Music Hall—plays a leading role in fostering the arts and serving as a cultural and artistic center for the campus and northern Minnesota. The school provides a comprehensive education for students in the visual and performing arts, offering majors in art and music education, as well as opportunities for those whose study in other disciplines is complemented by the fine arts curriculum. The school also offers selected graduate programs in graphic design and music. The faculty and staff of the departments of art and design, music, and theatre recognize the importance of exceptional instruction, scholarship, performance, research, and outreach. Their dedication to excellence is sustained within a balance of traditional academic experiences, exposure to new technologies and processes, and continuing performance/exhibition opportunities for students and faculty. The Tweed Museum of Art and historic Glensheen estate both serve as campus-wide learning laboratories and significant educational resources with important connections to the community.

All units within the School of Fine Arts are committed to demanding standards of performance in the classroom and in artistic endeavors. Through individualized pre-professional arts training in areas of specialization combined with broad-based liberal arts study, the school attracts students who possess both strong artistic and academic potential.

The school has an ongoing commitment to assisting students as they identify postgraduate professional opportunities and make professional transitions, and to continuing an active involvement in international exchanges in the arts. The school awards bachelor of arts (B.A.), bachelor of fine arts (B.F.A.), and bachelor of music (B.Mus.) degrees.

Vision

- The vision of the School of Fine Arts is to:
- Offer excellent academic programs serving the needs of 21st century student artist/scholars
 - Enrich academic programs through school-wide collaborations
 - Augment programs and outreach through performances, lectures, and residencies of distinguished guest artists
 - Enhance academic programs through international initiatives
 - Elevate programs and outreach through professional units such as the Tweed Museum of Art and Glensheen Historic Estate
 - Serve as a catalyst for collaboration in the regional fine and performing arts community

Office of Student Affairs

Academic Adviser: Stacy Crawford
214 Humanities Building, 218-726-8436

Administrative Professional: Jenny Beckett
220 Humanities Building, 218-726-7263

External Program Associate: To be announced
220 Humanities Building, 218-726-8312

For information and advice on academic matters (e.g., academic standing; admissions; advisement; academic programs; change of major, college, or adviser; grievance and appeal procedures; undergraduate research), contact the SFA Offices of Student Affairs, 214 or 220 Humanities Building. Forms and petitions are also available in this office.

SFA also offers a peer advisement program, which supplements faculty advising. Peer advisers are art and design, music, and theatre undergraduates. They answer questions and provide assistance with forms, procedures, and class schedules. For more information, contact the SFA Offices of Student Affairs.

Admission

See the Policies and Procedures section of this catalog for additional criteria and procedures for admission or readmission to the school.

Admission into SFA does not necessarily mean admission into a specific degree program. Upon receiving the letter of admission to UMD, students should go to their department office and talk with a faculty adviser to learn the requirements for specific majors.

Students must pass a performance audition in order to be accepted into any music degree program. At the time of audition, students must also complete diagnostic examinations in theory/aural/keyboard skills and an interview with the department head or an appointed designee. Any student who receives provisional acceptance into a degree program must pass a review (usually at the end of the first semester) to receive full acceptance. That review includes recommendations of major instructors and successful completion of an applied jury.

Residence Requirements

Degree candidates must complete at least 30 degree credits at UMD. At least 20 of the last 30 degree credits completed immediately before graduation must be taken at UMD.

Academic Standing

Good Academic Standing

SFA students must maintain a minimum GPA to be in good academic standing. For students who have attempted 31 or more credits (at UMD or elsewhere), the minimum overall GPA required is 2.00. Because some students have difficulty adjusting to the standards of a university education, those who have attempted fewer than 31 credits (at UMD or elsewhere) must maintain a minimum overall GPA of 1.80 to remain in good academic standing.

For graduation, a 2.50 GPA in the major is required for the bachelor of fine arts and bachelor of music degrees. A 2.00 GPA in the major is required for the B.A. degree.

Probation

Students with an overall GPA lower than that required for good academic standing are placed on academic probation. Students who have attempted 31 or more credits are returned to good academic standing status the semester after attaining a 2.00 minimum GPA. Students who have attempted fewer than 31 credits are returned to good academic standing status the semester after attaining a 1.80 minimum GPA.

Dismissal

Students who fail to attain the required minimum overall GPA for good academic standing after one semester of probation are subject to dismissal. Dismissal decisions are made in the college unit following final examinations. Dismissed students are notified immediately and their day school registration for the next semester is canceled. At the college's discretion, students may be granted an additional semester of probation if they are making progress.

Readmission

Dismissed students must present evidence of improved academic capability to justify their readmission. Petition forms for readmission and information concerning academic standing are available in the SFA Office of Student Affairs, 214–220 Humanities Building.

Student Grievance Policy

SFA students may file an official grievance if they are having a problem with a class or instructor within the school. The procedures for filing this grievance are available in the SFA Office of Student Affairs, 214–220 Humanities Building.

College Honors

At UMD, a maximum of 15 percent of the graduating class can graduate with college honors. In SFA, the top 3 percent of the graduating class is designated summa cum laude, the next 5 percent magna cum laude, and the next 7 percent cum laude.

At the beginning of each year, GPAs necessary to achieve these honors are posted in the Office of Student Affairs, 220 Humanities Building. The GPAs are based on the previous spring semester graduating class. To be eligible for honors, students must earn at least 30 credits at UMD. For more information, contact the Offices of Student Affairs, 214–220 Humanities Building.

Dean's List of Academic Excellence

Each semester, SFA students are recognized for high academic achievement by being placed on the SFA Dean's List of Academic Excellence. A memo is placed on their transcript indicating this achievement. To be eligible for this honor, students must have a 3.50 minimum GPA and 12 graded credits. Incompletes, missing grades, Ns, and Fs disqualify a student from eligibility.

Students who have been on the Dean's List of Academic Excellence for four or more semesters are given special recognition by the school at the time of graduation.

Department Honors

Art and Design

Honors are awarded to graduating art and design majors for exceptional achievement. Candidates, nominated by art and design department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement demonstrated in part by the senior student exhibition or a senior presentation or project.

Music

Honors are awarded to graduating music majors for exceptional achievement. Candidates, nominated by music department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement in musical performance, composition, or exceptional ability and accomplishment as a music educator.

Theatre

Honors are awarded to graduating theatre majors for exceptional achievement. Candidates, nominated by theatre department faculty, receive honors for distinguished contributions in acting, musical theatre, design/technical theatre, stage management, or general theatre involvement.

Scholarships and Awards

The following scholarships and awards are available to students in SFA. Contact the appropriate department for additional information.

School of Fine Arts

Isaac and Rose Gersholg Scholarships—

Awarded to two art and design, two music and two theatre undergraduate students who have financial need and who are outstanding students and performers. Selection based on department recommendations Contact the SFA Office of the Dean, 212 Humanities Building, for information.

Anne Davis Uppgren Memorial Award—Six hundred dollar scholarship awarded to a theatre major who has made outstanding contributions in theatre and demonstrates potential for artistic achievement.

Erin Wright Memorial Scholarship—Six hundred dollar scholarship awarded to a theatre major who demonstrates potential in theatre and dance.

Multiple Majors and/or Degrees

Students with a baccalaureate degree from another institution may earn a degree with a different major in the School of Fine Arts by completing all degree requirements for that new major including 30 UMD credits.

Students may earn different degrees and/or majors concurrently while enrolled in SFA. If both majors are approved for the bachelor of arts or bachelor of fine arts, at least 120 credits are required. If both majors are approved for the bachelor of music, at least 130 credits are required.

Departmental approval is necessary to be admitted to more than one bachelor of music degree.

Students may complete an additional major not offered by the SFA by fulfilling the requirements of the second major in another college. Students receive only one degree offered by SFA, but the second major is listed on their transcript. If students wish to earn degrees from SFA and another UMD college or school, all degree requirements must be met in SFA as well as in the other college or school. The two degrees are awarded at the time of graduation. Students should consult their faculty advisers and SFA Offices of Student Affairs, 214–220 Humanities Building, before pursuing two degrees.

The Department of Music is a primary resource for those who seek a comprehensive music education and for those who wish to enrich their lives through involvement with music. The mission of the department is to give students the highest quality musical instruction, preparing them to be teachers, creators, performers, and appreciators of music. Music students and faculty play a leading role in offering cultural and artistic enrichment to the campus, community, and Upper Midwest through outreach and scholarly/creative activities. The department is committed to assisting students achieve demanding standards of performance and scholarship in both classroom and artistic endeavors, and to helping them make ethical and gratifying choices to shape their citizenship within the musical community.

The department offers both undergraduate and graduate degrees in music and provides students the highest level of instruction in classes, applied studio lessons, and ensembles, as well as exceptional advisement. In addition, the department enjoys the benefit of a brilliant new performance venue, Weber Music Hall, designed by international architect Cesar Pelli. Weber Music Hall opened in October 2002 with remarkable reviews from artists and audiences. Music majors at UMD are eligible to compete for numerous scholarship awards, and graduate students consistently receive tuition fellowship support.

Theatre

Professors: Ann A. Bergeron, Thomas K. Isbell, Cathryn F. Ufema, Kathryn A. Martin, Arden W. Weaver; Associate Professors: Jon M. Berry, Patricia Dennis (department head), Mark A. Harvey, William Payne

The Department of Theatre, housed in the Marshall Performing Arts Center, has three objectives: to teach, produce, and sponsor theatre. The department provides academic and professional training in the arts of the theatre: acting, singing, directing, critical evaluation, dance, scenic design, lighting/sound design, costume design, properties, stage management, theatre history and theory, and theatre management, as well as a broad liberal arts study.

The department sponsors performances and residencies by a variety of theatre artists. Recent visitors have included world-class performing artists, directors, choreographers, designers, and dance companies.

Degree Programs

Studio Art B.F.A.

Art and Design

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 120

Required credits within the major: 70 to 76

Studio art majors are encouraged to develop a strong personal creative direction in one or more of the studio areas housed within the department. Exploration and experimentation across a range of mediums is possible in an environment that fosters a cross-disciplined approach to image making. Traditional studio practices share equal footing with new and emerging technologies in an effort to best prepare the studio major for the field. Theoretical, historical, and conceptual foundations are provided through offerings in art history and seminars.

Students must select an emphasis in general studio; digital art and photography; painting, drawing, and printmaking; or sculpture and ceramics.

Department Honors Requirements: Candidates, nominated by art and design department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement demonstrated in part by the senior student exhibition or a senior presentation or project. Students produce a body of work for the Senior Exhibition under the mentorship of faculty in their emphasis area. Work proposed for the solo or group senior exhibition will be reviewed and approved by studio faculty in their area during a Senior Portfolio Review.

Admission Requirements

Freshmen and transfer students are usually admitted to pre-major status before admission to this major.

Freshman and transfer students are admitted to pre-major status before admission to this major. To qualify for this program, pre-studio art students must pass a portfolio review (ART 0902) after completing a minimum of 15 art studio credits selected from the pre-studio core and sub-plan required studio required courses. Additionally, students must have a minimum 2.50 GPA overall and 3.00 GPA in other art and design courses. The review is scheduled for both fall and spring semester and occurs approximately midway through the semester. Students must submit a portfolio of selected work derived from their art core courses. Portfolios are reviewed by the studio art faculty. Specific guidelines for preparation of the portfolio contents and dates for review will be distributed at the beginning of each semester.

For information about UMD admission requirements, visit the UMD Admissions Web site.

Graphic Design B.F.A.

Art and Design

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 120 to 124

Required credits within the major: 85

The graphic design profession uses the creative process and technology to communicate ideas and messages. Delivery of the message can be multidimensional, print and screen based, interactive, involve sound and motion, and be real or virtual. Graphic design involves type and language, abstract and figurative imagery, concept, technology, and craft.

The discipline takes place within commercial, academic, and institutional contexts in the private and public realms and allows individuals to enter a rewarding profession that demands creativity and vision.

Acknowledging the interdisciplinary nature of the profession, the Department of Art and Design takes advantage of its position as a department in the School of Fine Arts to provide students with the opportunity to gain firsthand experience of all the arts in a manner that is possible in only a small percentage of universities nationwide. To qualify for this program, pre-graphic design students must pass a portfolio review (ART 0901) during the second semester of their freshman year.

Department Honors Requirements: Candidates, nominated by art and design department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement demonstrated in part by the senior student exhibition or a senior presentation or project. Students produce a body of work for the senior exhibition under the mentorship of faculty in their area. Work proposed for the solo or group senior exhibition, will be reviewed and approved by graphic design faculty during a senior portfolio review.

Admission Requirements

Freshmen and transfer students are usually admitted to pre-major status before admission to this major.

Students must pass portfolio review. The review occurs approximately the fifth week of spring semester each year by the graphic design faculty. Advanced placement students may be eligible for a portfolio review during the week before the start of fall semester. After completion of at least 9 credits of pre-graphic design requirement ART core courses, students must submit a portfolio of work selected from the courses, and a specified writing sample for the review.

After admission to the graphic design major (passing the portfolio review), the coursework required for the program is sequential and takes a minimum of three years or six semesters (see sample plan). Transfer students and students who change their major to graphic design need to be aware of this time requirement to complete the program.

For information about UMD admission requirements, visit the UMD Admissions Web site.

Art Education K–12 B.F.A.

Art and Design, Education

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 120 to 124

Required credits within the major: 103 to 104

The B.F.A. program in art education K–12 is for students who wish to receive licensure to teach art in Minnesota; it is offered in cooperation with the College of Education and Human Services Professions (CEHSP). The program prepares art teachers for kindergarten through the twelfth grade and provides a foundation in a variety of studio areas, art history, and art education methods. To qualify for this program, pre-art education students must pass a portfolio review (ART 0903). In addition to completing liberal education and art courses, each student must gain admission to the Secondary Teacher Education Program (STEP) licensure program during the junior year to complete the education courses required by the State Department of Education and Board of Teaching.

Students entering the secondary and K–12 licensure programs are bound by the policies in effect at the time of application to the licensure program. Admission is based on criteria established by the Department of Education that are consistent with Minnesota policies as well as standards established by the National Council for Accreditation in Teacher Education.

A student must have:

1. completed EDUC 1101;
2. a GPA of at least 2.50 overall and in major courses completed at the time of application;
3. taken the Pre-Professional Skills Test (PPST); and
4. passing scores on a nationally recognized standardized test such as the PPST, ACT, or SAT.

Students must submit a letter of application, résumé, letters of recommendations, and a copy of their Academic Progress Audit System (APAS) report.

There are alternatives to these established admission procedures to encourage the participation of individuals from underrepresented groups and other students as determined by the department.

Field experiences are an important part of the art education program and includes observations and participation in museum and elementary school programs; two apprenticeships in area public and/or private middle schools and high schools concluding with a full semester of supervised student teaching (8 weeks at the elementary and 8 weeks at the middle or high school level).

Students produce a body of work for the Senior Exhibition under the mentorship of faculty in their area. Work proposed for the solo or group senior exhibition will be reviewed and approved by area faculty during a Senior Portfolio Review.

Admission Requirements

Students must complete 45 credits before admission to the program. Freshmen and transfer students are usually admitted to pre-major status before admission to this major.

Art education portfolio review for pre-art education majors: To register for the portfolio review, students must have completed at least 9 credits of art core pre-art education required courses during the first semester at UMD (selected from ART 1010, ART 1011, ART 1012, or ART 1013, and one may be an art history course, either ARTH 1303 or ARTH 1304). Students must attend the mandatory information meeting held the third week of the semester. The portfolio reviews occur twice a year during the fifth week of the fall and spring semesters. After successful completion of the art education portfolio review, students become art education majors.

For information about UMD admission requirements, visit the UMD Admissions Web site.

Jazz Studies B.Mus.

Music

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 130
 Required credits within the major: 79

The B.Mus. in jazz studies is for students pursuing programs of intensive study to prepare for professional careers in jazz studies and/or for acceptance into a graduate degree program, to assist students to acquire high quality jazz performance artistry, and to provide students advanced historical, and theoretical knowledge of jazz music.

Students of the jazz studies major will be able to demonstrate knowledge of jazz styles, forms, and history; perform jazz music at an advanced level; demonstrate advanced skills in improvisation, jazz composition and jazz arranging; demonstrate knowledge of the music industry and demonstrate and model appropriate professional standards of ethical behavior.

Department Honors Requirements: Candidates, nominated by music department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement in musical performance, composition, or exceptional ability and accomplishment as a music educator.

Admission Requirements

Students must pass a performance audition to be accepted into any music degree program. At the time of the audition, students must also complete diagnostic examinations in theory/aural/key-board skills and an interview with the department head or an appointed designee. Any student who receives provisional acceptance into a degree program must pass a review (usually at the end of the first semester) to receive full acceptance. That review includes recommendations of major instructors and successful completion of an applied jury.

For information about UMD admission requirements, visit the UMD Admissions Web site.

General Requirements

In addition to the program-specific requirements listed below, all students are required to complete general University and college requirements including composition and liberal education courses. For more information, see the Liberal Education Program section of this catalog, and general degree requirements listed in each college section.

Recommended freshman writing course(s) for this program: COMP 1120—College Writing.

Program Requirements

Music Education B.Mus.

Music, Education

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 130

Required credits within the major: 102 to 103

The B.Mus. in music education is for students planning to teach classroom instrumental or vocal music. The program prepares and inspires students to acquire effective teaching skills, and to develop a commitment to teaching and to music education. It prepares students to be advocates for music in the K–12 setting. Graduates with this degree may be recommended for Minnesota Teacher Licensure.

To be accepted into the education component of this degree, a student must have:

1. completed EDUC 1101;
2. a GPA of at least 2.50 overall and in major courses completed at the time of application;
3. taken the Pre-Professional Skills test (PPST); and
4. passing scores on a nationally recognized standardized test such as the PPST, ACT, or SAT.

Students must submit a letter of application, résumé, letters of recommendation, and a copy of their Academic Progress Audit System (APAS) report.

There are alternatives to these established admission procedures to encourage the participation of individuals from underrepresented groups and other students as determined by the department.

Department Honors Requirements: Candidates, nominated by music department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement in musical performance, composition, or exceptional ability and accomplishment as a music educator.

Admission Requirements

Freshmen and transfer students are usually admitted to pre-major status before admission to this major.

A GPA above 2.00 is preferred for the following:

- 2.50 for students already admitted to the degree-granting college.
- 2.50 for students transferring from another University of Minnesota college.
- 2.50 for students transferring from outside the University.

Students must pass a performance audition to be accepted into any music degree program. At the time of the audition, students must also complete diagnostic examinations in theory/aural/key-board skills and an interview with the department head or an appointed designee. Any student who receives provisional acceptance into a degree program must pass a review (usually at the end of the first semester) to receive full acceptance. That review includes recommendations of major instructors and successful completion of an applied jury.

Theory and Composition B.Mus.

Music

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 130
 Required credits within the major: 63 to 64

The B.Mus. in theory and composition is for students pursuing programs of intensive study to prepare for professional careers in music. The program assists students to acquire compositional and analytical skills to best express their musical ideas and provides students with advanced knowledge of the materials of contemporary and historical music and a theoretical understanding of their construction.

Department Honors Requirements: Candidates, nominated by music department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement in musical performance, composition, or exceptional ability and accomplishment as a music educator.

Admission Requirements

Students must pass a performance audition to be accepted into any music degree program. At the time of the audition, students must also complete diagnostic examinations in theory/aural/key-board skills and an interview with the department head or an appointed designee. Any student who receives provisional acceptance into a degree program must pass a review (usually at the end of the first semester) to receive full acceptance. That review includes recommendations of major instructors and successful completion of an applied jury.

For information about UMD admission requirements, visit the UMD Admissions Web site.

General Requirements

In addition to the program-specific requirements listed below, all students are required to complete general University and college requirements including composition and liberal education courses. For more information, see the Liberal Education Program section of this catalog, and general degree requirements listed in each college section.

Music B.A.

Music

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 120

Required credits within the major: 55

The Department of Music is a primary resource for those who seek a comprehensive music education and for those who wish to enrich their lives through involvement with music. The B.A. in music offers students a general course of music study in a liberal arts setting, providing students an overview of music theory, history, and performance practice. The program helps students acquire a broad and general understanding of music as a cultural/social phenomenon.

Along with the courses required within the major, students must select a minor or second major appropriate to their academic goals.

Department Honors Requirements: Candidates, nominated by music department faculty, receive honors for distinguished achievement in musical performance, composition, or exceptional ability and accomplishment as a music educator.

Admission Requirements

Students must pass a performance audition to be accepted into any music degree program. Theatre B.F.A.

Theatre

Required credits to graduate with this degree: 120 to 124

Required credits within the major: 74 to 85

The Department of Theatre, housed in the Marshall Performing Arts Center, has three objectives: to teach, produce, and sponsor theatre. The department provides academic and professional training in the arts of the theatre: acting, singing, directing, playwriting, critical evaluation, dance, scenic design, lighting design, sound, costume design, properties, stage management, theatre history and theory, and theatre management, as well as a broad liberal arts study.

The cocurricular producing arm of the department, UMD Theatre, provides practical experience for University students while enhancing the cultural life of the University and the communities it serves. Auditions for all theatre productions are open to any student currently enrolled at UMD. Productions range from classical to contemporary, comedy to tragedy, musical theatre to experimental. Modern, jazz, tap, and classical dance are offered in academics as well as in the production season.

The department sponsors performances and residencies by a variety of theatre artists. Recent visitors have included world-class performing artists, directors, choreographers, designers, and dance companies.

Honors Requirements: Honors are awarded to graduating theatre majors for exceptional achievement. Candidates, nominated by theatre department faculty, receive honors for distinguished contribution in acting, musical theatre, design/technical theatre, stage management, or general theatre involvement.

Admission Requirements

Students majoring in theatre for the B.F.A. are admitted as provisional candidates for the degree when they enter UMD. At the end of the first year in residence, students are required to interview/audition for admission to full candidacy. The presentation should reflect the student's area of emphasis: acting, musical theatre, design/technical theatre, stage management, or composite.

Majors are also expected to participate in some aspect of UMD Theatre production during each semester of their residence at UMD.

For information about UMD admission requirements, visit the UMD Admissions Web site.

General Requirements

In addition to the program-specific requirements listed below, all students are required to complete general University and college requirements including composition and liberal education courses.
